➔ Support, help, service
Relax and enjoy your day
in the kitchen.

First things first.

Installation and unit introduction training.

Delivery, assembly and installation - it is always best to invest in the professional support of the RATIONAL service partner. Partners are regularly trained and are familiar with the latest technology. Then you can get started. With the unit introduction training. Whilst RATIONAL cooking systems are self-explanatory, a couple of tips and tricks may sometimes help. A RATIONAL chef will show these to you. You and your team. On site. Free.

➔ Individual support

To enable you to start easily achieving your goals from the very first day.

ChefLine.

and we'll turn your challenges into solutions.

Always up-to-date.

Free updates.

The RATIONAL cooking systems continue to progress. This is why we provide regular software updates. Which you receive regularly, free of charge and automatically of course. Even if your units are not connected to a network. Simply use a USB flash drive to transfer the software update from rational-online.com to your cooking system. For those that are on a network, it is even easier with ConnectedCooking.

➔ This is how you benefit from developments that deliver even better cooking results. Automatically.

ConnectedCooking. All under control.

Always knowing what the iCombi or the iVario are doing? Transfer cooking programs with just a single click? Retrieving HACCP data? Getting suggestions from the recipe database? The ConnectedCooking networking solution makes this possible. When starting your cooking system, you will be asked to log in and register your cooking systems for free. If you are not sure how it works, your RATIONAL service partner will be happy to help.

➔ Digitalisation made easy
Register, log in and off you go.
Keep control from anywhere.
