ConnectedCooking.
Connect your kitchen.

ConnectedCooking is the latest network solution for professional kitchens. Whether you use one or more RATIONAL units, ConnectedCooking offers your customers completely new and convenient application options. The only thing you need to do is to connect your RATIONAL unit or even your FRIMA VarioCooking Center® to a network. Let yourself be inspired by ConnectedCooking: You can easily distribute cooking programs to all the units in your kitchen or even remote when you are not there. It’s also great to finally distribute cooking programs to all the units in your kitchen.

“With ConnectedCooking, I am always kept updated on what is happening in my kitchen and can even intervene when I am not there. It’s also great to easily distribute cooking programs to all the units in my kitchen.”
Alex Gower, CFO, Cobb & Co., restaurant chain, Tauranga, New Zealand

ConnectedCooking.
Always under control. Totally convenient.

With ConnectedCooking, you can always have everything in sight.

Remote access
Remote access will allow you to easily regulate all connected RATIONAL units from your smart phone, tablet, or PC.

Push notifications
Error notifications must also be conveniently sent to you in real time, exactly where you want it.

Software updates
This means the unit can be connected to your network as standard.

Application videos
So that a ConnectedCooking can only do what it is authorised to do, you can specify it in your profile.

Full recipe library
If you like, you can network, talk and “talk shop” with colleagues worldwide.

Always on the safe side. Totally automatic.

Updates are always provided to you free and automatically. Just start the update, that’s it.

Safety is one of the greatest challenges in modern kitchens. Increased demands by supervisory authorities and demanding hygiene regulations make for a significant administrative workload. Automatic HACCP documentation
Log and document all important HACCP data fully automatically. All relevant data from all connected RATIONAL units is logged, clearly presented and this ensures that application errors are reduced to a minimum.

Backup unit settings
So achieving your best cooking results become even easier and quicker. If you like, you can network, talk and “talk shop” with colleagues worldwide.

Always offering new ideas. Totally inspiring.

You will have access to one of the largest networks of international chefs and master chefs. Be there at the click of a button.

In addition to many colourful examples on the properties of various dishes, you will also find many filmed operating instructions. So you will quickly learn how to program, clean or create shopping carts.

Always safe for the future.

To connect units with ConnectedCooking, they must be connected to a network. For this reason, all connected units must be equipped with an Ethernet connection in standard line mode, which can be connected by a network switch by RJ45 or via a W-LAN module. Units built before 03/2017 can also easily be retrofitted with an Ethernet port and integrated in the ConnectedCooking world. In principle, all SelfCookingCenter® Plus and VarioCooking Center® Plus units built since 03/2017 are equipped with an Ethernet connection as standard.
